The shots were fired through a window, and the assassin is unknown, but supposed to be one of Molitor's laborers. He had been quarreling with them during the day.

A Youthful Speculator in San Francisco.

San Francisco stands aghast at the audacious stock operations of one Charles Kuchel, a youth of nineteen. This adventurous and enterprising individual—a mere broker's clerk, with no capital except the native audacity and craft—actually rivalled in the magnitude of his stock transactions the veteran millionaires who are popularly supposed to control the market corners and send stock up and down, according to their pleasure. His operations thus far ascertained, during the first two weeks of last January, amounted to $157,000, while during the months of May and June they figured up to the incredible sum of $840,000. His transactions from the beginning of the year to the 21st of July amounted to over $1,100,000. But these figures, stunning as they may seem, only cover his sales and purchases through two brokers. He is known to have also operated through others, and the full extent of his stock dealings has not yet been ascertained. While carrying on business upon this magnificent scale, he drove high-spirited trotters on the Cliff road, and is said to have been the owner of no less than three dashing double teams. He was gorgeously appareled, fared sumptuously every day, and had the best of everything going that could be obtained for money. There was nothing niggardly about this precocious prodigal. If he lavished his money freely, it was not all expended upon himself and his individual pleasures. Only a few weeks ago he sent his mother and sister off on a European tour, and his main solicitude when arrested seemed to be lest they should hear of his disgrace. The fact that the boy was able to continue such a career so long undetected, using the stocks and credit of his employers on such an extensive scale, seems inexplicable. The defrauded broker, when a friend applied to him, asking the situation made vacant by Kuchel's detection for another youth, made answer: "If you have a boy you care anything about, set him at anything but the stock trade. Put him into a gambling den if you like, set him to dealing faro; but don't make a broker's clerk of him. The real gambling will be less trying to his morals than the base California street imitation."

The Elysium of Bummers.

San Francisco is the elysium of "bummers." Nowhere else can a worthless fellow, too lazy to work, too cowardly to steal, get on so well. The climate befriends him, for he can sleep out doors four-fifths of the year, and free lunch opens to him boundless vistas of carnal delights. He can gorge himself daily for a nominal sum; get a dinner that a King might envy for fifty cents. There are two classes of saloons where these midday repasts are furnished—"two bit" places and "one bit" places. In the first he gets a drink and a meal; in the second a drink and a meal of inferior quality. He pays for the drink (twenty-five or fifteen cents, according to the grade of the place), and gets his meal for nothing. This consists in the better class of establishments, of soup, boiled salmon, roast beef of the best quality, bread and butter, potatoes, tomatoes, crackers and cheese. Many of these places are fitted up in a style of almost Oriental grandeur. A stranger entering one of them casually, might labor under the delusion that he had found his way, by mistake, to the saloon of a San Francisco millionaire. He would find immense mirrors reaching from floor to ceiling; carpets of the finest texture and the most exquisite patterns; massive tables covered with papers and periodicals; the walls embellished with expensive paintings. A large picture which had adorned a famous drinking and free-lunch house was sold the other day for $12,500. Some of the keepers are men of education and culture. One is an art critic of high local repute, who has written a book, and a very readable one, of San Francisco reminiscences.

Bound to Have Her.

An honest-faced stranger called on Justice Potter the other day, says the Free Press, and inquired what his Honor's usual fee was for joining a couple in the holy bonds of wedlock.

"The fee is two dollars in case you come here," was the reply.

"Less see," mused the man, as he handed out a roll of bills; "there's three dollars for a bedstead, eight dollars for a second-hand stove, two dollars for dishes, two dollars to run the house on, and—that's every blamed cent!"

"So you are short?" inquired the Justice.

"There's the pile," replied the young man, but I'll knock the two dollars off for dishes, and give it to you, for I'm bound to be harnessed to my girl this week if we have to bile 'taters in the tea-pot."

And in less than an hour the two were made one.

The Attack on Commodore Goodenough.

LONDON, August 24.—The Colonial Office has received the following details of the attack on Commodore Goodenough which led to his death: The Commodore and a party, on the 12th inst., landed in Carlisle Bay to open intercourse with the natives of Santa Cruz Island, who attacked the Sand-Fly in the same place last year. After remaining about an hour ashore, having made apparently satisfactory progress in the object of their mission, they were preparing to return to the ship, when suddenly the natives, who were only a few yards off, shot at Commodore Goodenough, and a poisoned arrow penetrated his left side. The boat then put off under a flight of arrows. Seven men were wounded, including Lieutenant Hawker. Two of the wounded have since died from the effects of the poison. The others are improving. As soon as the boat returned the Pearl shelled and burned the native village, and then returned to Nelson's Bay.

The Foot and Mouth Disease has broken out with great violence in Dorsetshire, where twelve thousand animals are down with it. The distemper is spreading rapidly.

Banquet to American Naval Officers.

SOUTHAMPTON, August 24.—The banquet tendered to the officers of the American squadron in the harbor by the corporation of Southampton was given to-night. Thirty American officers were present. Among the members present were the American Consul, members of the House of Commons for Stafford, Rt. Hon. W. Cowper Temper, member for South Hampshire, Commodore Commeseel, and a large number of local notabilities.

The Mayor of Southampton proposed the health of Admiral Worden and the other American guests, and warmly eulogized the gallantry of the American navy. He said he felt the most sincere pleasure in welcoming the guests of the city, referred to the distinguished services of Admiral Worden during the late American civil war, wished America a prosperous future, and hoped she and England would continue hand in hand as examples of peace and unity.

Admiral Worden briefly thanked the Mayor for the kind expressions about himself and country, which, the Admiral said, were fully reciprocated by his countrymen.

Colored Educational Convention.

RICHMOND, VA., August 24.—In the Colored Educational Convention to-day, a constitution was adopted for the State Educational Society, to aid in the instruction of meritorious youths in the higher branches of study. J. W. Cromwell, one of the speakers, asserted that it was the duty of the State Government to enforce the collection of the capitalization tax by making the right of suffrage depend upon its payment. Mr. Cromwell was subsequently elected President of the Society, and resolutions were adopted requesting the State Board of Education to establish a colored normal school.

Swindling Contractors.

ALBANY, August 24.—The investigation of the canal contracts of Belden, Denison & Co. was continued to-day by the Legislative Committee. The whole of the evidence goes to show that the contractors received from the State thousands of dollars for work which was never performed.

An Attempt Made to Steal the Body of Gen. Phil. Sheridan's Father.

On Wednesday evening, August 11, Mr. Jacob Sites, accompanied by his young son, repaired to the Catholic Cemetery in this place, to prepare a grave. While Mr. Sites was engaged in digging the grave, his son strolled about the cemetery, and in the course of his rambles discovered that the grave of John Sheridan, Sr., had been tampered with, and at once informed his father of the discovery. Mr Sites informed Father Noon of the condition of the grave, and he, with John L. Sheridan and Dr. J. D. McKinney, proceeded to make an inspection of it, which showed that the earth as far down as the boards covering the casket had been thrown out, but that the body had not been disturbed. It is believed that the resurrectionists became alarmed, and abandoned the work very hurriedly, as they left a spade and dropped a case containing a pair of spectacles and a pencil. Tracks in the lane back of the cemetery, show that they had with them a one-horse wagon and two horses. The object of this attempted grave robbery is difficult to divine. Mr. Sheridan has been dead for more than three months, and it is hardly likely that the body would be desired for dissection. By some it is believed that the robbers expected to get a reward for the return of the body.—Somerset (Ohio) Press.

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

The School Question Ably Handled—Excerps from Judge Taft's Grea Speech at Cleveland.

We give below several points in the able speech of Judge Taft, delivered at Cleveland on Monday evening. The principal portion of his address was devoted to the school question, now agitating the people of Ohio, and no man in the State is more capable of discussing the subject. He has served in one capacity or another in connection with the public schools for over twenty years, and he understands their value:

Can the Democrats be Trusted With the Schools Under the Circumstances?

The Republican party might forego the honor of being in office, if the Democrats could be trusted with the carrying out of Republican principles. But love of office is their ruling passion. Can we be quite sure, that if some close contest would arise in which the Catholic clergy could turn the scale in favor of one or the other party, the Democratic politicians might not be tempted to yield something to them, on the schools or school fund, as a consideration for another political victory? I regret to see sectarianism introduced into politics. But the Democracy have purchased the support of the Catholic Church by a sectarian consideration, and are enjoying that support. They have no right, therefore, to claim exemption from the natural consequences. Nor can the Church complain, when it identifies itself with a political party, that its political actions should be canvassed. They, the Democrats and the Catholic clergy, have agreed to combine against the Republicans. The Catholic clergy are supposed to have no other object in this coalition than to divide the school fund, or destroy the common school system. Is it right to trust this vital interest of the republic to such a combination?

Popular Education a Republican Rather Than a Democratic Feature of Our Government.

Unquestionably, popular education is an important plank in the Republican platform. That our system of common schools receives no detriment, rests as an obligation upon that party. I do not assert that the Democratic party is, as a party, hostile to the public schools. But it is obvious that education is not a leading interest with the Democratic party, and never has been, and that all the opponents of the common schools are in the Democratic organization, while the Republicans have in their ranks none but friends. The Democratic party is frantic for political power, and has the reputation of not scrupling at the means of getting it. In a desperate struggle for office, it might possibly make dangerous concessions to its allies against the schools—a thing which the Republicans could never do, though forever excluded from political power. The political alliance between the Democratic leaders and the Catholic clergy has two objects. On the part of the Democratic leaders, the object is political power; on the part of the clergy it is a radical change in the constitution and conduct of the common schools, or their abolition.

The Common School System the Corner-Stone of the Republic.

The common school system is the corner stone of our republic. We have the largest civil liberty, and universal suffrage, both of which will prove dangerous, and perhaps fatal, unless the republic shall cherish and support its system of universal education through the common schools. The State has a great and paramount duty to perform in this behalf—a duty which it cannot delegate to any sect or church. It is bound to see to it that every child has a free opportunity to attend the common schools.

Division of School Fund Would be Destruction of the System.

To divide the school fund would work the destruction of the system. Nor would any satisfactory division be practicable. If it were attempted the small sects and those who affiliate with no sect could hope for but little advantage from their share of the fund, and none of the fractional schools resulting from a division of the fund would have more than a mere semblance of the power and usefulness of the system in its present integrity.

But the State can not delegate to any sect the administration of any part of the school fund. To do so would be an abandonment of its duty under our Constitution, besides being a palpable violation of the principle that there must be no union of Church and State.

The real difficulty is that our Constitution and the Roman Syllabus are directly in conflict on the school question. By the Syllabus our Constitution is a "damnable error;" and with the Catholic clergy the Syllabus is an authority.

A Sample of the Abuse of Schools by Catholic Papers.

What can we say to such declarations as the following from the Freeman's Journal, a leading Catholic paper, of New York:

"Education is not the work of the State at all. It belongs to families, and should be left to families, and to voluntary associations. The school tax in itself is an unjust imposition."

Again, the same paper says, under date of December last:

"We demand of the State, as our rights, either such schools as our Church will accept, or exemption from the school tax. If it will support schools by a general tax, we demand that it provide or give us our portion of the public funds, and leave us to provide schools in our own religion, under the supervision of our own Church. We hold education to be a function of the Church, not of the State; and in our case we do not and will not accept the State as an educator."

And even the Catholic Telegraph, here at home, says:

"It will be a glorious day for Catholics in this country when, under the laws of justice and morality, our school system shall be shivered to pieces. Until then modern paganism will triumph."

Such passages as these verify all I have said of the purposes of the Catholic clergy. They would excite indignation, but that they evince a total misconception of our Government.

Conclusion.

The public schools cannot be put down by an epithet. But the man who uses epithets manifests his own sentiments, and thus we know authentically the sentiments of these men toward the schools, and how little they care for the Democratic or Republican party, except as a means to get at the schools. They hope some assistance, directly or indirectly, from the Democracy. They can have no hope of any such assistance from the Republicans. From the Democrats they have got the Geghan bill, for which, it is supposed, they bargained and sold the solid Catholic vote, and that they propose now to deliver it. They naturally hope for other traffic of the like kind, especially if they make prompt payment, according to contract. They know that a Democratic platform is not the thing to be alarmed at. These hard-money Democrats of 1872, going for more greenbacks "to meet the wants of trade" in 1875, are not the men to regard a plank in their platform. The priesthood might well hope to "shiver" that, if they could once get the Democracy in a tight place. Whether there is any chance of success or not, it is manifest that the interest of the priesthood in politics culminates in the hope of "shivering" the schools.

No mother ever cherished her only child with more jealous care than a free republic cherishes, or ought to cherish, its system of universal popular education—its common schools,—and however slight the possibility of danger, it will be avoided, with something like the dread with which we approach a precipice, though we do not propose to plunge over it.

Now, the Democrats must bear the responsibility of encouraging this sectarian war upon our schools. If it will court a priesthood by such means, let it bear the odium. We may only hope that both parties to this transaction may receive such a lesson in October as will discourage any further traffic of the kind.

Gay Madrid.

A correspondent writes: From morning to evening, and in the summer season still more from evening to morning, the Madrid turmoil is incessant. The people's home is the street; their business, enjoyment. You find a throng in every thoroughfare; a racket in every cafe; a queue at the door of every theatre; a swarm at the Poerta del Sol; jostling streams of loungers up and down the sidewalks of Alcala and Geronimo streets; the endless roar of newspaper boys and hawkers of lottery tickets; the Correspondencia or the Lista Grande dinned into your ears at every turning by merciless ruffians bawling at the top of their voices. Everywhere the display of wealth, the pomp of boundless luxury; strings of glittering carriages, the prancing of mounted officers, the toilets of painted duchesses; the King in his coach and six, with his squadron of Lancers and scarlet outriders; bevies of lovely women picking their steps daintily amid the rags of squalid beggars—such are the features of every day life in a city the capital of a nation distracted by civil war, trodden by dictatorial anarchy, stared in the face by impending bankruptcy.

American Inventions Abroad.

The great American inventions, which have been adopted all over the world, are the following: 1. The cotton gin, without which the machine, spinner, and the power loom would be helpless. 2. The planing machine. 3. The grass mower and grain reaper. 4. The rotary printing press. 5. Navigation by steam. 6. The hot air (caloric) engine. 7. The sewing machine. 8. The India rubber industry. 9. The machine manufacture of horseshoes. 10. The sand blast (for carving). 11. The gauge lathe. 12. The grain elevator. 13. 100,000 Money Order Blanks Stolen.

Statistics of Imports and Exports.

Instructions to the Chicago Custom House Commissioners.

WASHINGTON, August 24, 1875.

Money Order Blanks Stolen.

About one hundred thousand money order blanks, worth twenty dollars per thousand, have been stolen from the Postoffice building.

Instructions to the Chicago Custom House Commissioners.

The Secretary of the Treasury to-day addressed a letter of instructions to the commissioners just appointed by him to examine the Chicago custom house building, in which he recognizes the need of the early completion of this important public work, not only to the Government, but to the prosperity and business interests of the city of Chicago, and at the same time he recognizes the responsibility resting upon the department, and the paramount duty of preventing the sacrifice of a large sum of public money upon a work which may not possibly be safely completed. The appropriation for the building was two million dollars. For these reasons he has determined to confide to the commissioners the review of former conflicting reports as the basis of action for the department, or for information to Congress, and that their investigations may be full and accurate, their attention is invited to the following points, namely.

First. To the nature and condition of the foundation of the building, this being of the first and paramount importance, and that by all such tests and appliances in mechanics and engineering as may be advisable and necessary they will ascertain and report whether it be of the proper level, on firm ground, and of adequate strength in all respects to support the building proposed to be erected on it, and if not, how and in what way and at what probable cost the defects in the foundation may be relieved.

Second. To the nature and qualities of the stone out of which the edifice is being constructed, and whether it has the durability, strength and other qualities desirable for such a structure.

Third. To the indications shown of the sufficiency, or otherwise, of the stone and other materials in so much of the structure as has been accomplished.

Fourth. Whether any change in the plans or material to be used in the construction of the building should be made, and if so, what, and an estimate of the probable cost of such changes, adding such suggestions as will give practical effect to the conclusions they may reach in connection with the whole matter thus confided to them, entertaining confidence in their intelligence, impartiality and qualifications to discharge these duties.

The Secretary hopes they will, as a commission, effect an organization and proceed at once to Chicago, and patiently and thoroughly investigate the matter confided to them, informing themselves by all such means as they may deem proper to adopt, as well as by their own personal examination.

Imports and Exports.

The Bureau of Statistics reports the total imports into the country, exclusive of specie, for July, at $41,286,391, against $47,162,476 in the same month of 1874. The imports for seven months this year were $316,104,793, against $351,136,903 in the same time last year. The exports for July this year were $41,485,177, against $40,967,184 in July, 1874; for seven months this year, $322,838,872, against $376,943,366 in 1874. These are all currency values.

International Championship Swimming Match—Coyle Again Beaten by Johnson.

PHILADELPHIA, August 24.—The second international championship swimming match between Coyle, of Chester, and Johnson, of England, took place this afternoon from the Lazaretto to Gloucester, ten miles. A heavy northwest wind was blowing, and when the men went into the water there was quite a heavy rain. At 3:17 both plunged into the water. Both took the Pennsylvania side, Coyle being nearest to the shore. After passing Tinicum Island they shot out nearer to the centre of the river. From the start Johnson was ahead, swimming very easily, but swiftly. When they had passed over about six miles of the distance Coyle's trainer noticed that he looked bad and took him out of the water. Johnson at this time was about a mile in advance. Coyle showed every indication of being chilled and unable to go much further. Johnson continued swimming until he reached the end of the course. He looked quite fresh after being taken out of the water.

Serious Explosion of Gas.

NEW YORK, August 24, 1875.

Decision on the Redemption of U. S. Bonds.

The Secretary of the Treasury, according to a Washington special to Kiernan's News Agency, this city, has rendered the following decision in reference to the 5-20s of 1865, of May and November, and the 5-20s of 1865, of January and July: The books and records of the Department show that 5-20s of '65, May and November, known as the old '65s, were the first of these two loans issued, the date of issue being October 21, 1865; while consols of '65, January and July, known as the new '65s, although the bonds bear on their face the date of July 1, 1865, were not issued until October, 1866; therefore it follows that the 5-20s of 1865, May and November, known as the old '65s, being the first issued under the law, must be the first called. The date given on the face of bonds is not to be taken as the date of their issue, but the fact as established by the record of the Department in the application of the law.

Business Failures.

Late yesterday it was reported that two small failures had occurred in the stock exchanges of P. H. Stevens and J. W. Brown, but the amount short was not stated.

The creditors of the suspended firm of Maney & Marshall, dealers in builders' ware, have elected Uriah C. Burnap, of Harding & Burnap, as assignee.

Gas Explosion.

A explosion, caused by escaping gas, occurred at the residence of E. G. Webster, Brooklyn. Mrs. and Mrs. Webster, Mr. L. G. Thrall and Eliza Wilson, a servant, were all badly burned. The house was damaged by fire $2,000. All the windows were broken and the walls badly bulged by the concussion.

Mennonites for the West.

Two batches of Mennonites, numbering in all 350, marched through Wall and Broad streets yesterday, to the banking office of Greenbaum, Brothers & Co., received cash for their drafts, and in the evening started for their new homes in the West.

Reduction in the Price of Coal.

One of the largest dealing coal companies of Pennsylvania to-day announced a reduction of coal at retail prices as follows: Grate and egg, $5.70; stove, $6.00; chestnut, $5.40.

The Courts Adjourned.

The Courts adjourned to-day out of respect to the memory of the late Judge Grover, of the Court of Appeals.

AMUSEMENTS.

Fifth Avenue Comedy Theatre.

There was a good attendance at this house last night, and a delighted audience of ladies and gentlemen. Mr. Sam E. Ryan as Tim Hannagan is very funny in the farce of the "Irish American." The same bill will be presented at the matinees this afternoon, and also this evening.

Trimble's Varieties.

Another crowded audience greeted the performance at the Varieties last evening. Manager Aims has prepared a special bill for the matinee this afternoon. The usual performance, by all the variety artists, in the evening.

Musical and Dramatic.

THE Vokes play this week in Philadelphia.

NO TRAMPS now trouble Miss Charlotte Cushman's lawn, at Newport. She is said to go for 'em in Queen Catherine style.

JULIA PARKER, of Baltimore will appear in Milan in opera in September. Her stage appellation is Signora Guiletta Tasca.

IT is now reported that Judge McCue and Mr. Keeney will manage the late Mrs. Conway's Theatre in Brooklyn during the coming season.

VIOLETTA COLVILLE lately had a narrow escape from drowning. She fell from a pleasure boat at Lackawanna, and sank twice before she was rescued.

GOTTSCHALK, youngest brother of the famous pianist, will join the Camilla Urso troupe, in this country next season. He is said to be a remarkably fine basso.

ALL free passes have been abolished at McVicker's Theatre, Chicago. The Times of that city commends the change as in the best interest of both papers and theatres.

MISS EDWINA BOOTH, the beautiful daughter of Edwin Booth, though but fifteen years of age, has fulfilled the duty of nurse to her father ever since his recent accident.

THE residents of the vicinity of Gilmore's Garden are about to get up an humble petition to the hero of the Jubilee for the cessation of the national air with which his band nightly terminates the performance. There must be some "secesh" sympathizers about.

THE story goes that a young English actor, named Walter Hastings, volunteered to suffer ten years' imprisonment for £10,000, offered him by a lord He went in at 25, and came out looking like 60, but he got his money. If the story should happen to be true the world will be glad that such a dangerous madman was under restraint for that time.

AMELIA MARTHA THOMAS complains in the Court of Middlesex, England, that William Thomas, after having married and deserted her, was guilty of the indiscretion of marrying Alice Ann Dunning and running away to the United States, where he tends the mimic scene as William Horace Lingard, and Amelia further demands that he shall come home and defend a suit for divorce or take the consequences.

A TEST CASE.

Interesting to Butchers and Drovers.

Some days ago Mr. Miller, a butcher, who does business in the Fifth avenue market house, bought two steers from Holmes, Lafferty & Co., the well known stock dealers. Mr. Miller claims that he bought the cattle at the ruling market price, which he alleges should guarantee him sound beef. When the animals were brought to the slaughter-house, it not being convenient to examine them closely at the place of sale, it was discovered that one of them was badly bruised. Meat Inspector Lindsay was sent for and condemned the beef. Miller then applied to Holmes, Lafferty & Co. to have the money paid refunded. The firm, however, excepted to this view of the case, and stated that they did not pretend to do an insurance business in connection with live-stock dealing. Miller then brought suit before Alderman Gallagher, of the Fourteenth ward, to recover the amount, and the case will come up in a few days. The case is one of decided interest to both butchers and cattle dealers.

FIRE PROTECTION.

The Field on the South Side Surveyed.

Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Jones and Pender of the Fire Commission, paid a visit to the hill wards on the South Side, for the purpose of looking at sites for the engine houses which the Board proposes to build in that section. The design of the commission is to have the houses built, and supplied with apparatus by the time the water pipes are laid in the districts. The pipes are now being laid. The committee made a grand tour through the wards, and looked at the several sites offered. They can have the choice of several, without cost to the city. They design locating one hose carriage in each ward, so that the whole hill district will be thus supplied. They made no decision however, as to the sites, but will report their future decision to the Fire Commission.

The New Railroad Project.

For the past month or two little or nothing has been heard of our new railroad projeat, but it affords us pleasure to be able to state now that the enterprise has neither been dead nor sleeping in the meantime. During the past week the engineers have been employed in re-surveying the route on the south side of the river, measuring the depth and the width of the Ohio near this point; and the surveying party are now at work between here and Youngstown. It is understood that this is to be the final survey, and that the road will now be built at early a day as possible. There can be no doubt about a railroad along the proposed route proving a paying one, as it will traverse, nearly its whole length, a country densely populated, rich in mineral productions, teeming with manufacturing establishments, and withal poorly supplied as yet with railroad facilities.—Beaver Argus and Radical.

Home Again.

About noon yesterday the Fourteenth Regiment, Col. Hill, returned from Camp Gallagher, where it has been since last Wednesday. At an early hour yesterday morning the regiment broke camp and packed up all their utensils, tents and camp apparatus, formed in line and marched to the station at Monongahela City, where Col. John Scott had a special train in waiting. Alighting from the cars, the regiment formed in line and marched over to this side of the Monongahela and dispersed. The boys express themselves as highly delighted with their trip, and are greatly indebted to the generosity of the railroad officials and the people of Monongahela City, all whom contributed largely to their pleasure.

A DEPOT SCENE.

Too Much for one Carriage—The Troubles of a Man From Hulton.

He wore long hair of a light hue and had a flavor of hay about him. He was accompanied by his wife, who carried a baby and along side of her trotted a boy of about ten years. He was engaged in taking care of a goat which he led by a rope, and out of a baggage car on the A. V. R. R. obtained a baby's crib and two trunks. He wanted to go to Cumberland, Md., and he left all his effects together with the children and the goat in charge of the wife while he stepped outside to get a conveyance to move the whole lot to the Connellsville depot. A bargain was made with a hack driver for "himself, wife, two children and baggage." Going into the depot he returned with the family and the goat. The wife and the two children were assisted into the carriage, and then he lifted the goat in. The driver was disposed to object to the goat, but after a parley it was admitted.

"Now, this yer baggidge is to be toted out. Come along driver, and I'll give yer a hand," said the traveler.

They went back to where the baggage was, and the driver took a look at the two Saratogas.

"You can't put them in the carriage," said he. "Th're a good load for a wagon hemselves."

"Now, look yer, up at Hulton I had them two trunks hauled a mile to the depot for a couple of bits. Tote 'em right along."

The "baggidge" was brought to the carriage and took up all the room on the driver's foot-board. Jehu was beginning to get mad, but he kept the better of his temper, and told the man to get inside. The Hulton man did so, and the carriage got as far as the grain elevator when the Hulton man cried out from the inside:

"Hold on, driver; hold on."

The driver "pulled up" and the Hulton man said "How do yer open this darned door? I've forgot something."

The driver opened the carriage door and the man jumped out, saying, "Just wait; I'll be back in a minute." Presently he returned with the big country crib, and asked the driver,

"Where do you think this yer crib would set best—on top the trunks, or would you hold it?" This was too much for Jehu. He looked at the man for a moment and said, as he began to take the trunks down,

"The sooner you get that goat and the rest of the family out of that carriage the better. You must take it for an express car."

The family, including the goat and the trunks, were deposited on the pavement as speedily as possible, and the driver and carriage and horse departed. The Hulton man looked at his wife: "Well its just here, Sally, if a man's going to be imposed on he'd better larn the tricks here than farther away from home. I guess its a wagon we want. There an't any 'commodation about these chaps anyhow."

He left to get one.

Resuming on Fractional Currency.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

Glad to see your strictures on Secretary Bristow's method of "raising the wind" in order to resume on fractional currency. No doubt we can get silver coin enough to retire the fractional issues by the sale of Government bonds. Its legality I do not decide, for, like you, I have not examined the law. There is, however, a very important question I wish to put to any one who can answer. I wish to state, as a preliminary fact, that gold closed in New York yesterday at 13⅜ for the premium; also that there is a difference between gold and silver of 7 per cent. So, then, the difference yesterday between silver and currency in New York was 6⅜ per cent. against silver resumption. But here is my question: With this condition of the money market, how long will this ten or even twenty millions of silver circulate among the people? Mind you, this is to take the place of our present fractional currency, and it has cost, as you state, one million dollars annually to obtain the twenty millions needed. It seems to me that this is financiering run mad. I sign myself as an active business man since 1825.

Serious Accident.

About seven o'clock last evening a machinist named Robert McDevitt, met with a serious accident in the yard of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near the head of Eighteenth street. He had been at work out Fifth avenue and for a near cut to his home on Penn avenue near Nineteenth street, came over the hill. He was crossing the tracks in the yard when the Wilkinsburg accommodation came along and knocked him down. He has a bump on his forehead and a severe cut on the back of his head, while it is feared one leg is broken. Dr. Hamilton was called and Mr. McDevitt was removed, by instructions of the physician, to the West Penn Hospital for treatment.

Children in Italy.

A lady correspondent traveling in Italy thinks children must be a natural product of the country. She says: In the poorer quarters of the towns every woman has an armful, and two or three tagging after her; and, as the amount of clothing considered necessary for all children under five years is simply what nature gave them, the sight is somewhat startling. But all children over five or six have at least a chemise that reaches down to the waist. Once in a while you will see one with a scant petticoat or a sorrowful looking pair of pantaloons that seem to have been designed for a strainer and rejected because the holes were too large.

VERDICT
In Favor of Howe's Standard Scales.
We, the undersigned, comprising all the wholesale Butchers of Chicago, are using the IMPROVED HOWE STANDARD SCALES, and after using Fairbanks' and other Scales, do find that the improvements in the Howe Scale render it the best.
We use a scale severely, and find the HOWE to be the strongest.
We weigh out each day over thirty thousand dollars worth of meat, to the retail markets, in various quantities, and require our large scales to weigh small fractions of a pound.
This merit we have found is alone possessed by the IMPROVED HOWE and is maintained after the most severe and longest tests, being attributable to the perfect chilled iron balls between the platform and knife edges, on which all friction is received, thus preserving the fine edge of the pivots on which the correct and delicate action of a scale depends.
We also find the IMPROVED HOWE SCALES the most economical, not needing the frequent repairs that Fairbanks' and other scales do.

THE Commissioners now examining the charges of fraud at the Red Cloud Agency, will, it is said, call on Mr. Welsh and Prof. Marsh, to testify as to any frauds of which they have knowledge. The confidence of these gentlemen in the statements they put forth should enable them to give evidence to the Commissioners that will be at least of some value. Certainly, gentlemen who can occupy so much space in the papers should be able to offer direct testimony of some value.

ATTENTION is being called at the East to the insinuations, by the Democratic press, against both the platform and candidates of the Republican party. We do not just see why this should astonish any one. One of the most ordinary methods of insinuating a false idea, in use by our virtuous Democratic journal, is to indicate that some does not deny some absurd and utterly false proposition,—the idea being that as no respectable journal will take the trouble to deny, an insinuated falsehood will stand. This is part of a deliberate policy. It is mean and contemptible,—but what else is Democracy, these days?

THE fight among the Democracy, in view of the approaching State Convention, is quite refreshing. It shows that the ancient spirit of the unterrified still exists. Where there is a battle to be fought, whether against the common enemy, or among themselves, their spirit rouses, and the ancient fire revives. Wallace, for the time being, is the ruling spirit of the occasion, but there is a large rebellious element, East and West, and it is not so sure that he will succeed in carrying his measures entire. Should he fail, his prestige will be broken, and he will rank at Washington as a Senator of small account. Thus the motive, and thus the fight.

THERE are strong indications that the Southern members of the next House of Representatives will demand in very positive terms, some action on the part of Congress whereby the Southern, or Texas Pacific Railroad, may be revived, and the project completed. This is done, not at all as a party measure, but as one of financial and agricultural recuperation. We think it a serious mistake that the last Congress did not take favorable action on this subject, and hope, should the subject come up in a proper and right manner, the Senate will cheerfuly co-operate in any measure that looks to the recuperation of American industry. This is a question of first importance.

THE press is discussing the resumption act, treating it as a sham. It is really a compromise, and, like all compromises, attempts to meet the views of both parties and satisfies neither. The act is in itself a threat of resumption, and so tends to paralyze business. It is in reality a method for substituting National Bank notes for greenbacks, with an addition of twenty per cent. to the volume of currency. In this sense it inflates. Under this arrangement the Government will resume specie payments, and the banks will not. For all this tender mercy and special privilege we will be called on to pay gold interest to the amount of $20,000,000 yearly. This is exactly what the whole thing amounts to.

WILLIAM WELSH is at it again. He addressed long letters to "a Mr. Marsh" showing how he exposed many and varied rascalities in the Indian Department years ago. We do not assume to know that what Mr. Welsh charges is not true, but if all that he states is true, we cannot comprehend why that gentleman should have refused to testify to these things under oath, where there was a chance of having them rectified. Even admitting that he doubted the faith of Commissions, he certainly could not doubt that of a Congressional Investigating Committee. Yet the broadest and most comprehensive questions were asked him, and he was as dumb as an oyster. He certainly has done much to discredit himself.

THE Canal Investigation Commission of New York have brought clearly home to the Canal Board of 1869 the letting of large contracts in an illegal and fraudulent manner, resulting in the State being swindled out of large sums of money. Two members of the Board, Messrs. Beach and Richmond, attempted to throw back this severe charge, but it was brought home to them so clearly that they were forced to admit its truth and justice. It is conceded that these gentlemen are personally of high character, but they simply neglected to use proper precautions in letting contracts, and so the State was largely swindled. It is a lesson that even the best men may fail to perform a very important duty in the most careful and proper manner.

THE opposition press recognize the fact that Governor Hartranft has been a good Governor, and will be hard to beat. They hope he will be beaten, however, because a change of politics is good, now and then. We have tried the experiment in this State, and are not particularly impressed with it. The Democratic Legislature, elected to reform things, plunged so recklessly into every kind of rascality that the feeling in this State is, that we do not wish to experiment farther in that direction. The declaration that ex-Governor Bigler will be the Democratic nominee does not harmonize with the understood purposes of the leaders of the Democracy. Judge Ross is believed to be the coming man, unless they should harmonize on Barr; while for Treasurer, there seems to be a free fight between Noyes and Slifer. As against this entire tribe we think Hartranft can be easily elected.

IT is very palpable that the military administration in England is not so rigid in punishing certain crimes as is the civil power. The case of Colonel Baker illustrates this. Convicted of an attempt to commit an infamous crime, he was sentenced to fine and imprisonment, and it was currently reported that he would be cashiered, and so debarred the military service. In place of this, he was permitted to resign his commission, and it is thought that when his sentence expires he will be re-employed in the military service, if public opinion will permit. It also seems that his prison life is to be very different from what was expected. He is what is called in English legal parlance "a first-class misdemeanant," which puts him in the category of political prisoners, and he occupies rooms furnished to his taste, and supplies his own food. His imprisonment is but a name. So, disgrace aside, his punishment is little more than a sham.

THE Southern leaders are now manufacturing "confessions" to bolster up the farce of declaring a negro insurrection imminent. The confessions are rather transparent, and will not prove very convincing documents. Even the New York Herald, which does not afflict the Democracy if it can avoid it, says of this affair: "There are not going to be any negro insurrections. The negro is now free; he has nothing to gain by an insurrection; he is a timid and tolerably helpless creature, who, as every Southern man knows, has not even the capacity to organize politically without white helpers and leaders, and who is as capable of flying as he is of plotting and organizing an insurrection. When, therefore, the Southern Democrat hears about a negro insurrection we advise him to put his tongue in his cheek and leave his shotgun on the rack where it belongs." Its correspondence from the scene of the dreaded uprising utterly dissipates the stories of the White Leaguers.

VARIOUS correspondents, representing papers East, West and North, have been furnishing the results of their observations in Ohio. They represent all grades of papers, both as to politics and influence, yet the testimony is alike in every instance. The Republican ticket is certain of success, and Allen sure of defeat. The Liberal and disaffected Republican element have aroused, and affirm that they will not permit the Democrats to take the State over into Dixie or to Rome. On the other hand, the Democrats are greatly divided, with no element of harmony among them. They realize that the worst element in their midst has gained control of the party, and all they can do is to let things take their course. They are helpless, and the better element already philosophises, with martyr-like submission, over the future benefits to flow from the unexpected defeat. The only set-back to this train of reasoning is in the fact that if defeat would serve to purify and ennoble them, their leaders ought to be equal to Pliny or Plato by this time. As one expressed it, "It did seem as if our fools had been thrashed often enough to get some sense; but here they are again, as much in need of it as ever."

SAMMY AND REFORM.

It is getting to be tolerably evident who will be the next Democratic candidate for the Presidency. It is clearly and unmistakably known who wants to be. Sammy is the man. He has been roaming over the State of New York, stopping at the principal towns, receiving "ovations," and giving receptions. The burthen of his speeches,—for silence is not golden with Sammy,—is Reform. He opened the way to Reform,—joined in the fight against Tweed, fought the Canal Board, and gave Reform his thoughts by day and dreams by night. It is noticeable, however, that this elegant refrain generally closed with an allusion to the importance of keeping honest Reformers in office! This disinterested advice is generally accepted as having reference to the Presidency, and as Sammy has the power and patronage of the Governorship of New York in his hands, it is not surprising that he is making headway toward a Presidential nomination. He is possessed of one of the grandest attributes of a successful politician,—selfishness,—and so never loses sight of Sammy when advising the people as to their political course. As they see Sammy regnant, it is not surprising that the glamour of his greatness should bewilder them, and thus they shout, "Great is Sammy, and he shall be our President!" All this is very delightful, but let us see whether there is not another side to it?

Governor Tilden was a member of the Democratic party during all the years of its corruptions, and at the rise and through the power of the Tweed rule. There is not the slightest evidence that he complained or remonstrated, either at the pro-slavery doctrine of his party, or at the Tweed regime so long as it was apparently secure in power. He worshiped at the shrine of success. When, however, the press, particularly the Times, had unearthed the rascalities of the Tweed ring, and it became manifest that its days were numbered, he came forward, ready to help kick the dead lion of his party. That he originated the onslaught against him, or did anything material toward his overthrow, until it was evident he would be put down in any event, with or without his help, is not true. He joined the fight when he saw where the victory would fall. That a certain amount of credit is due him for even this we admit; but that he was unselfish, or that he rose above his party in the interests of Reform we totally deny. He simply saw there was a chance for himself, and had the nerve to avail himself of it. It is not difficult to estimate the exact value of such Reform.

As an offsetting consideration, it is to be remembered that all the corruptions that were to be reformed grew up within his own party, and even within the halls of the identical organization of which he was a prominent member. He was a Democrat and a Tammanyite during all the period within which Tweed rose and flourished. Why did he not, in the days when there were no personal advantages to be gained, and when by timely and vigorous action, millions could have been saved to the voters of New York, expose and punish the Tweed corruption? He mingled with the identical parties engaged in maturing and practicing the corruptions which robbed the taxpayers of New York of so many millions of money. It was known to all in the inner circle just how these things were managed, and Tilden was supposed to belong to this circle. The clue to the entire list of robberies was given by a Democrat, no more intimate with Tweed than was Tilden, yet the latter did nothing till it was apparent Tweed's doom was sealed. Isn't it rather remarkable that so earnest a Reformer could happily live, so many years, in the very hotbed of corruption and theft?

The canal investigation the Governor deserves the credit of starting. When it served his interests to strike at that Ring it became very evident that he knew sufficiently of its inner workings to strike closely. Yet why did he not do it before? Why select the exact period he did? Palpably because his personal advantage would be subserved by silence at an earlier period, and by outspoken exposure at a more recent date. It was Sammy he was thinking of all the while, and not the good of the dear people. So pending the investigations into the proceedings of the Canal Board, and the exposure of extravagances and swindling, he travels about, and at every startling exhibit points proudly to his own little self, and triumphantly exclaims, "See what Sammy did,—he started that," and the little fellow evidently thinks he will be borne into the Presidency by the bad odor and immeasurable rascality of the Democratic party. It is a case of mistaken policy.

The American people, as a rule, very accurately determine the calibre and value of the several candidates for the Presidency, and while they may be occasionally careless as to Congressmen, and minor officials, they rarely fail to exercise the utmost care in selecting a President. We do not assume to know who will be the candidate of the Republican party; but of all that have been mentioned, we know of none who ought to be defeated by Samuel J. Tilden. He is pretentious, fussy, self-seeking and a Reformer,—when it pays. There is much, indeed, of the demagogue in his course. We have yet to believe that the people will elect a person of that character to the Presidency of the United States. Yet we are confident that at present he is the most prominent candidate for the Presidential nomination the Democratic party has. With the defeat of Allen in Ohio, there will be an end to the aspirants in that State. At the East he has no formidable rival. We thus far regard his nomination as probable,—and his defeat as inevitable. Democratic journals seem to think we seriously dread his nomination,—but we say, nominate Sammy, by all means.

POLITICAL NOTES.

FERNANDO WOOD "doesn't want" the Presidency. Neither does Henry Clay Dean.

EX-SENATOR JOHN SCOTT, it is said, will take the stump in Ohio for Governor Hayes and the Union.

CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, says the Boston News, is "the best name we have yet heard of for next Governor."

THE Pennsylvania Democrats and the New York Republicans will hold their State Conventions on the same day.

MR. PRINDLE, of Webster county, Iowa, is talked of for the vacant place on the Democratic State ticket caused by the refusal of Mr. Wright to run for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

SENATOR THURMAN is reported to have said that the Democrats of Ohio are already defeated; first, on the Catholic question, and second, on the demerits of that splendid demagogue Sam. Carey.

GENERAL GARFIELD says that in Ohio the political issue is the power of the Catholic clergy in relation to public schools. He thinks that the religious contest has been transferred from the Old World to the New.

THE Washington Chronicle points out that the assassin of State Senator Johnson, of Florida, gives the Democracy two majority in the Senate. It was not what is called a political murder, but it was one of those strange dispensations of Providence favoring the Democratic party by crimes committed.

MR. SENCERBOX, the Democratic candidate for Railway Commissioner in Minnesota, has followed the example set him by the Republican candidate for the same position, and withdrawn on account of ineligibility. The vacancy in the ticket will be filled by the Central Committee on the 1st of September.

A GENTLEMAN who has been traveling in Cuyahoga county, O., believes that the Republicans will gain five votes through the school question for every one they lose through the financial question. The Cleveland Herald confirms this opinion, and adds that the school question is uppermost throughout the northern part of the State.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Cincinnati Gazette has taken the pains to cast up the accounts of defalcations and rascalities of State and county officials in Ohio since 1856. If he has been accurate in his calculations, the people have lost $1,280,931.21 through the dishonesty of Democrats, and only $80,000 by Republican malfeasance. The comparison is suggestive.

IT is very natural that Senator McDonald should come over from Indiana to defend the Geghan bill. He takes the Catholic Telegraph at its word, and believes the "solid Catholic vote" is behind it for the Democratic ticket. With such a political reward for obeying the behests of the Church, it is not amazing that a politician should seek to strengthen the alliance. If by that "solid" vote Allen is re-elected, the party would be ready to subscribe to almost any legislation that might be demanded by the Church which, according to St. Geghan, has "a prior claim upon it."—Cincinnati Commercial.

A CURIOUS INCIDENT in the career of Gutenberg, the inventor of printing, not mentioned in any of his biographies, has been discovered in an old Italian manuscript, recently brought to Paris by a monk. The manuscript states that Gutenberg was tried at Mayence in 1422 for the assassination of his uncle, and was only acquitted after a long imprisonment.

MR. BEECHER preached a characteristic discourse under canvas to an immense multitude at the Twin Mountain House Sunday. Regeneration was the distinguished pastor's theme. A happy household he described as a human heaven, and throughout his discourse he uttered thoughts which could only have been drawn from his recent unhappy experience.

COMMANDER JAMES G. GOODNOUGH, commanding the British squadron in Australian waters, died on the 20th inst. He had been wounded by poisoned arrows in the attack made on his flagship, the corvette Pearl, by the natives of Carliste bay, and although every effort was made to counteract its effect the poison proved fatal. One seaman was killed and three wounded by savages.

A REUNION of the Bancroft family was held at Reading, Mass., on Friday. The exercises consisted of a dinner, a historical address, and speeches. By actual count, there were over 400 persons of the name of Bancroft present. The address, by Mr. J. M. Bancroft, of New York, traced the records of the family from the first settler of whom anything is known, Thomas Bancroft, down to 1825.

Morgan in 1850, and then showed himself an efficient public servant. He is the son of a Baptist minister. His income from fees is said to be $80,000 to $100,000 per annum, the office being considered the most lucrative in the gift of the President.

JOHN GUY VASSAR, a nephew of the founder of Vassar College, is probably the greatest traveler the world has ever known. He first crossed the ocean in the British Queen, in 1840, and has been almost constantly on the go during the intervening thirty-five years, returning home every year or two, only to remain a few months, and then take a new start for a tour round the world, or to some remote quarter of the globe—almost every inhabitable part of which he has visited once or oftener.

MISS JULIA MATTHEWS, a theatrical young lady, just arrived in New York from England, must be calculated to sweeten society, if all that is said of her in a New York paper is true. She is said to be "a 'merry, capricious, tantalizing romp, 'roguish,' 'wholesome,' 'levity and physical recklessness,' 'in fine health, and therefore in joyous animal spirits,' 'genial, joyous, human and companionable,' 'full of pranks,' 'hoidenish affectation of frank simplicity,' 'veiling refinement and a crisp talent for satire,' 'a handsome English blonde.'"

MR. TOM TAYLOR, play writer, and the art critic of the Times, has married his daughter to Sir Charles Edward Frederick. The founder of the family was Sir John Frederick, who was a wealthy merchant two hundred years ago, was Lord Mayor in 1662, and rebuilt the hall of Christ's Hospital after its destruction by the great fire in 1666.

With his father and a business partner, he owns nearly 2,000,000 head of sheep, scattered over a range of country more than three hundred miles square. He has had two losses by Indian raids, one of 35,000 head and the other of 15,000, "but," he says, "I hardly missed them."

DURING the panic which ensued when the Algerian struck last week on Split Rock in the St. Lawrence Rapids, a Southern gentleman called his son, a boy of ten, to him and endeavored to fasten a life-preserver round his body, telling him if the boat capsized to strike out for shore. The boy, however, obstinately refused to let him attach it, insisting that his father, who was helplessly crippled while serving in a Louisiana regiment, should keep it for himself.

OVER two hundred guests attended the wedding of George O'Nan and Miss Osborn, in Owen county, Kentucky. It was a memorable event. Thirty pounds of crackers, a big cheese and fifteen gallons of whisky were swallowed. Then came the afterpiece. The first fight was interesting in so far as it severed an artery with a knife; but the second one, when they commenced stabbing each other in the abdomen and sawing off arms and legs, was the main feature of the evening's entertainment.

ELOPEMENT runs in the Wilhite family of Texas county, Mo. Sallie Wilbite ran away some years ago with her brother-in-law, Aaron Davis; he, however, returned to his wife, and she married a Mr. Neely, who eloped and left her. Two years ago her cousin, Ezekiel, ran away with a Mrs. Winland, both parties leaving families. Last month Aaron Davis's son, Marion, a boy of nineteen, ran away with his mother's sister, a woman of thirty, and to complete matters his father has again eloped with his sister-in-law, Sallie.

THE little village of Roachtown, St. Clair county, Illinois, was the scene of a bloody tragedy on Sunday evening. Alfred Kifer, engineer at the mill in the place, and George Siefreid, a farmer, living in the vicinity, were testing their skill shooting at a mark with shot guns. An altercation occurred between them as to which had made the best shot. Siefreid advanced toward Kifer to strike him. Kifer warned him off, but he continued to advance in a menacing manner, and Kifer lodged a charge of shot in his abdomen, killing him instantly. Kifer went to Belleville and gave himself up to the authorities and was lodged in jail.

THE Imperial Academy of Sciences, at Vienna, has taken up the question of the decrease of the quantity of water in springs, streams and rivers. In a circular, the Academy calls attention to the fact that for some years past a diminution of the waters of the Danube and other great rivers has been noticed, and especially since the modern practice of cutting down forests, without regard to consequences, has prevailed. The Austrian Engineers and Architects' Union have also taken the question in hand, and appointed a "hydrotechnic committee" to collect facts and prepare a report. The Danube, the Elbe and the Rhine were each assigned to two members.

SUMMER RESORT GOSSIP.

THE Lelands propose to build a hotel on the shores of Chautauqua Lake.

AT some of the watering places ladies have introduced the fashion of bathing masked, and, after a look at their forms, nobody blames them.

IN less than a month the departures will outnumber the daily arrivals at the waterplaces, especially at the sea-side resorts, where the season invariably ends on or about the 5th of September.

THE bathing at Long Branch has not been good since the premature equinoctial, and comparatively few bathers are to be seen in the surf now when the little white flag flutters on the brow of the cliff.

SATURDAY night is the great time at the Eastern watering places, when all the husbands, lovers and beaux from the cities come crowding in the cars, to stay over Sunday with the less busy ones of the other sex, who remain at the resorts all the week.

WHEN Jenny Lind first saw Niagara Falls, she is said to have dropped upon her knees and uttered a prayer of gratitude to God. How differently the same sight affects different people. A Brooklyn Gentile saw Niagara Falls last week for the first time, and all he remarked was, "Great heavens, Shearman ain't a teapot to this!"

AT Saratoga the States cottages have been occupied the season by the following rich men and their families: August Belmont, worth perhaps $20,000,000; Augustus Schell, worth $1,000,000; Hon. Ben. Stewart, with his $80,000,000, was in the row, its worth would foot up to about two hundred millions of dollars.

STATE BREVITIES.

LEVI S. BURKHOLDER, a patent medicine pedler, from Altoona, fell from a bridge at Falls City, Fayette county, Sunday night, and was killed.

Two dwellings belonging to J. Hassenphlug were burned at Huntingdon on Sunday morning. A widow, who occupied one of the houses, lost nearly all her household goods.

MRS. DAVID JAMES, Tower City, Dauphin county, was poisoned by eating mushrooms, one day last week. She mistook the poisonous kind for the edible variety. Notwithstanding the efforts of the physician, she died the next day.

DANIEL ODENWELDER, of Bath, Northampton county, employed some men to fell a tree in his yard. He repeatedly warned others to keep out of the way, and when the tree fell he was struck by the limbs and so badly injured that he lived only an hour afterward. He leaves a large estate.

A QUEER bird has been shot in Lebanon county. It resembles a chicken hawk, with a white head, blue and white spotted back. The wings are black outside and white inside; its tail is shaped like that of a swallow. It measures two feet from head to tail, and four feet from tip to tip of the wings.

A CAMBRIA county farmer experimented upon a new method of growing wheat, which he has just harvested with the most satisfactory results. He planted a half teacupful of wheat in hills about eight inches apart, three grains to the hill. From each hill an average of fifty-four stocks grew; the heading of these stocks ranged from five to eight inches. From the half teacupful a peck of the cereal was threshed.

SUPPOSE!

BY PHOEBE CARY.

Suppose, my little lady,
 Your doll should break her head,
Could you make it whole by crying,
 Till your eyes and nose were red?
And wouldn't it be pleasanter
 To treat it as a joke,
And say you're glad 'twas dolly's
 And not your head that broke?

Suppose you're dressed for walking,
 And the rain comes pouring down,
Will it clear off any sooner
 Because you scold and frown?
And wouldn't it be nicer
 For you to smile than pout,
And so make sunshine in the house
 When there is none without?

Suppose your task, my little man,
 Is very hard to get,
Will it make it any easier
 For you to sit and fret?
And wouldn't it be wiser,
 Than waiting like a dunce,
To go to work in earnest
 And learn the thing at once?

Suppose that some boys have a horse,
 And some a coach and pair,
Will it tire you less while walking
 To say "It isn't fair?"
And wouldn't it be nobler
 To keep your temper sweet,
And in your heart be thankful
 You can walk upon your feet?

Suppose the world doesn't please you,
 Nor the way some people do,
Do you think the whole creation
 Will be altered just for you?
And isn't it, my boy or girl,
 The wisest, bravest plan,
Whatsoever comes, or doesn't come,
 To do the best you can?

"Just as Lief."

Shortly after the dinner bell rang he came up the walk, laid down upon the steps, and put his head in at the dining-room door:

"Mizz——, mother says won't you please to give her a good plate full of your nice soup for dinner, and lend me your little tin bucket to fetch it home in, and she's not feelin' powerful well any how, to-day."

"But will you please go back and ask your ma if she wants her soup highly seasoned, and crackers broken up in it, and celery salt shook in, and a silver spoon with her full name engraved on it thrown in!" replied the lady of the house.

"Bud" left in double quick time, and soon he was back in position:

"Mizz——, mother says she believes, as it taint too much trouble to you, she just as lief as not!"

The old lady got the soup in the tin bucket unseasoned with further sarcasm.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, August 25, 1875.

A more cheerful spirit prevailed at the banks yesterday, but for what especial reason we could not discover. The demand for loans was much improved, but was probably entirely temporary. Yet it is claimed that there are clear indications of a larger and better trade during the coming fall, and at better prices. The manufacturers, while realizing that the situation at the present is not inspiring, are hopeful of a speedily improved future, with a better demand and better prices.

Real estate is probably as depressed in and around this city, as it has been at any time. There is no clearly ascertained value, much property being privately offered, and at prices that are very low. Those who wish to secure homes at low figures never had a better opportunity than exists at the present.

M. & M. National Bank stock sold last evening at McIlwaine's auction rooms, 106 Smithfield street, by John D. Bailey, auctioneer, for $66.50.

The New York Times says of the general prospect that there are good reasons for anticipating a lively Fall trade, that will necessarily result in producing at least comparative prosperity, is indisputable. From all quarters of the country come the most cheering accounts of reviving activity in business, and perhaps the most gratifying feature in the renewed animation is that it is not confined to any one or two branches of trade, but extends its influence to all—the producer, the manufacturer, the merchant, the retail dealer, and the artisan all equally sharing in its benefits. Again, the crop reports from the great West are of a most encouraging character. The official reports of the National Bureau of Agriculture state that the yield of cereals will be above the average of ten years, that the wheat crop is far better than expected, while the cotton crop promises to be larger than any we have had since 1860. It is therefore certain that we shall have not only sufficient for our own wants, but ample supplies to meet the large export demand which there is such good reason to anticipate. In this connection it forms a subject for felicitation that the banks are in a position to meet the requirements which increased activity in trade and commerce will produce. Speculators are proverbially the quickest to discern any turn in the tide of affairs, and are prompt to take advantage of any circumstance likely to conduce to their own benefit, and it is therefore not at all surprising that the improvement in the outlook of the general situation should have reflected itself in the Stock Exchange during the week in an enhancement of values.

NEW YORK, August 24, 1875.

Gold opened and closed at 113⅜, with sales in the interval at 113⅜ and 113¼. The rates paid for borrowing were 2, 1, 1½, flat, 3 and 1-64 per cent. Government bonds closed steady. In railroad bonds there was a well distributed business, Union Pacifics being the leading feature. Firsts advanced from 102⅛ to 102⅜ on large purchases, and sinking funds reached 97¼. Chicago & Northwestern consolidated plain sold at 98⅛@98⅜, and gold bonds at 97¼. Central Pacifics declined a fraction, selling at 103. C. C. & I. C. firsts rose 1 per cent., selling at 107. State bonds closed quiet at nominal prices, except Tennessees, which were off.

The stock market, which was marked by fluctuations throughout the day, closed dull and steady, except for Pacific Mail, which was active and better. In Panama the last sales were at 134½, although there was no business in the stock late in the afternoon. There was nothing definite up to the close of business in regard to the relations between the Pacific Mail and Panama, about which rumors were so freely circulated early in the day. New York Central declined to 104½. Western Union closed at 84⅜, and Union Pacific at 73¾. Lake Shore recovered from 61⅜ to 61⅞, and closed at 61½. The highest sales of the day were at 62. Northwest was steady at 41⅞a42 for common, and 57 for preferred. St. Paul closed at 37⅞a38 for common and 64 for preferred. Erie advanced to 15⅞, and closed at 15⅜. Pacific Mail closed at 39¼, after selling at 38⅞a39¾.

The transactions to-day aggregated 80,300 shares, of which 16,700 were Lake Shore, 8,700 Northwestern common, 2,850 Northwestern preferred, 30,700 Pacific Mail, 4,900 St. Paul common, 4,200 preferred, 2,400 Ohios, and 4,625 Western Union.

The Wheat Crop of Minnesota.

The St. Paul (Minn.) Pioneer-Press of Aug. 13 gives some interesting figures of the wheat crop of that State, compiled by Mr. Pennock Pusey, ex-Commissioner of Statistics of that State. It says that Mr. Pusey estimates the area of the wheat crop of the State at at least 1,840,000 acres, and that the information from all parts of the State, except a very small and sparsely settled district of the Upper Mississippi, where the drought has shriveled the wheat on sandy soil, and the small area devastated by grasshoppers, is that the wheat crop is one of the heaviest which has been harvested for years; and in many parts of the State it is said to be the heaviest crop which has ever been harvested. There are a great many fields which good judges believe will yield 30 bushels per acre. Twenty-five bushels per acre is a frequent estimate of the average yield for local districts of considerable extent. Mr. Pusey thinks that in view of the uniform testimony to the abundance of the crop, with rare exceptions, throughout the State, that 18 bushels per acre is a very safe and conservative estimate of the average yield for the whole area. This will give a total of 33,120,000 bushels, excluding the districts ravaged by grasshoppers. The following are the counties devastated by locusts, with the roughly estimated amount of wheat destroyed by them:

	Bu.		Bu.
Nicollet	[illegible]	Watonwan	100,000
Blue Earth	100,000	Cottonwood	30,000
Sibley	300,000	Brown	100,000
Total	1,120,000

Subtract this from the total crop, and we will have remaining in the granaries of the State as the result of the present harvest, 32,000,000 bushels of wheat. This will leave a surplus of at least 25,000,000 bushels, exclusive of the amount reserved for home consumption and seed. The entire wheat crop of last year is officially estimated at 21,650,000, giving a surplus of 14,000,000 bu. The entire money value of the crop, owing to the low prices prevailing since last September till the middle of June, was not more at the outside than $10,000,000.

COMMERCIAL.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, August 24, 1875.

Trade in commercial circles, while it cannot be termed active, is fair, about all that can be expected, and while orders for goods of all kinds are comparatively light, there is a very fair volume of business in the aggregate. In regard to values there have been no important changes, excepting the advance on Roasted Coffee, to which reference was made in our last report.

BUTTER—Dealers generally report that the demand is slacking off, which they attribute in part to the abundance of fruits and vegetables, and prices are easier in consequence; prime to choice solid packed quoted at 22a24c and 25c.

BEANS—Quiet; prime mediums quoted in a small way at $2,10a2,15 per bushel.

CHEESE—The general tone of the market is reported easy, but there is a very fair jobbing trade and prices are maintained; prime Ohio Factory 11a11½c.

EGGS—Continue very quiet but unchanged; 14a15c.

FRUITS—The market for Peaches was firmer to-day, in consequence of diminished receipts and a reduced supply, and for choice fruit prices were a shade better; quotable at $1a1,75 per box for fair to choice. Apples unchanged at $3a4 per bbl. for fair to choice. Berries $1,50 per pail. Melons 10a20c each.

FLOUR—Our dispatches yesterday, both from Chicago and New York, reported those markets offish, and the feeling here is easier, and trade has fallen off somewhat, but prices are still maintained; we continue to quote at $7,25a7,50 for good to choice brands of old winter and spring wheat, in a jobbing way. Very little new stock offering here as yet.

GROCERIES—Coffee continues firm, and as noted in our last report, Roasted has been advanced 1c per lb. Sugars moderately active, but unchanged. Carolina Rice is firm, and we have advanced our quotations slightly. Molasses and Syrups, in light stock, and firm at quotations.

GRAIN—The receipts and offerings of old Wheat continue very meagre, and with considerable inquiry, the market was firm at $1,35 for prime old Penna. and Ohio red, and 5 to 7c additional for amber and white. But little new crop on our market as yet, and, in the absence of sales, it may be quoted at $1,40a1,45. The receipts of Oats continue liberal and the market is weak and prices unsettled; new crop may be quoted at 50c on spot for prime, and 45a47 to arrive; old are bringing but little more than new. Corn is scarce, but there is not much inquiry—the abundance and low price of Oats will have a tendency to curtail the demand for Ear for feeding. Shelled quotable at 80a82, and Ear at 82a83. Apprehensions are entertained that the crop being a little late may be injured by early frosts. Rye is quoted at $1, and dull.

HAY—New Baled is quotable at $20a23 for fair to prime; the supply of old is about exhausted

POTATOES—Continue very dull; selling at 70a75c per bu. Sweet Potatoes, $5a6 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—Continue very firm, with every indication of a still higher range of prices, especially for Sugar-cured Hams and Breakfast Bacon.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, August 24, 1875.

The Crude market continues firm, but without quotable change, as compared with yesterday; Conduit certificates, 91½@92½; United, 88½@90; immediate shipment, $1,12@1,13¼. Refined steady but quiet; 11 asked and 10⅞ bid for Philadelphia and Baltimore delivery; 8¾c on Penna. cars to go to Philadelphia, and 9c on Connellsville cars to go to Baltimore.

It is rumored that the Baltimore & Ohio Company have reduced the rates from here to Baltimore below those of the Penna. Central, and it is hoped that the rumor is correct, as the cost of transportation was too high to enable refiners here to compete successfully with other points. There is nothing like competition, as the saying is, it is the life of trade. Neither of these corporations have any particular desire to promote the refining business here, only so far as it is to their own interest. Refiners generally are down on the Conduit Pipe Co. for forming an alliance with the B. & O. R. R. Co., thereby forcing those who obtained the raw article by this pipe line to ship their product to the seaboard by the Connellsville route.

There is no change to note in Barrels; countries, $1,15a1,25; city make, $1,35a1,40.

The Breadstuffs' Outlook—From a New York Stand-Point.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Since a week ago the market for all kinds of grain has undergone quite a marked reduction in values, chiefly in the early part of the week, while at the close there has been a partial recovery, but without general activity or the buoyant feeling that characterized the market before the decline. Shippers instead of bidding freely for arrivals have rather been holding off, but at the close the indications are rather more hopeful, as the confidence in the future of values seems to be about restored, whereas during the early part of the week the reverse was for the time being the case to an extent that gave the market an almost panicky appearance. The causes for this have been that the receipts from the west have begun already to fall off, with a prospect of still lighter during the harvesting period, while there has been a favorable influence exerted on this market by the causes of the Chicago market which began to recover before this. As to the condition and influence of foreign markets it may be said that they were generally against this early in the week, but the later reports were more favorable, and the new crop of Great Britain bids fair to show as great a deficit as has been hitherto apprehended; as to the Continent there has not been much change since last week. In the Winter Wheat section of the west, while there has not proved to be so widespread damage by the floods as at first reported, it has turned out that there has been still greater damage by heating and sprouting in the stack than at first supposed, and as a consequence there will be a much less than average quality of the crop, while the quantity remains as before estimated. There has been no material change reported in the Spring Wheat sections, where the prospects are still all that could be desired generally. The course of this market on Winter Wheats has not wholly followed that of Spring, as there has been a light trade done at about old values. Thus it will appear that while we have had a quite marked decline for the moment as a result of a weakened confidence in the future, which has not yet been fully recovered, yet the actual situation is not apparently changed from that noted last week. The exports this week have been 1,216,760 bu., against 821,934 bu. the corresponding week last year.

There has been the same unsettled market for Flour during the past week as we have to note in Wheat following as it has upon the course of the Wheat market with which it has been in pretty close sympathy throughout. The trade as well as shippers have held off under light demand, and orders from the local trade and from foreign markets, none doing more than to supply their few passing orders, under the supposition that the decline in Wheat and ample arrivals of Flour would produce a further decline under accumulated stocks. This hope was but partially realized, however, for the weakness and demoralization that existed on the part of holders of Wheat and Flour did not exist but a few days and was not then taken advantage of by buyers, and when they did return to the market they found holders steady at the prices at which they had refused to buy early in the week. Especially was this true of all but the lower and doubtful keeping flours, while the highest grades of all Winter Wheat Flours have run low in supply and there is a prospect of their becoming scarce, and as a consequence they are already in better request and fewer offered. The chief feature at the close is a good demand from London for the higher grades of Shipping and Good Bakers' Minnesotas as well as Patents at $6,25 up to $7,50, and there was also some such demand for the West Indies and for Southern for South America, while all grades under $6,25 have been slow of sale and have ruled lower. The decline on medium and low grades early in the week was about 20a25c., at which the market closed steady, with the higher grades decidedly improved in demand and prospects for the future. The exports of the week have been 29,158 bbls., against 37,686 bbls. the corresponding week last year.—Tribune.

THE Pomeroy Coal Company have reduced the price of coal to steamboats at Pomeroy to 5 cents per bushel.

THE Shannon will next season be introduced into the Nashville and Paducah trade as a regular semi-weekly packet.

THE new iron towboat for the river improvement service was launched from the Marine Ways, St. Louis, on Friday.

CAPT. FRANK HICKS notifies his friends on the lower river that the Mary Bell will be ready for business by the 1st of October.

MR. W. J. FRY has resigned the chief engineership of the James Howard, and will be succeeded by Mr. Sam. Hill, who came out on the boat.

CAPT. FRANK CARTER, B. C. Levi, and Mann Satterwhite have been appointed delegates to represent Louisville in the Convention of river men to be held in New York on the 1st of September.

THE Sioux City Journal, of the 20th, says:—The reason the May Lowry did not fulfil her promise, to come down here and transport all the freight for Bismarck at 75c a ton, is a good one. She is in the hands of the Sheriff of Burleigh Co., D.T., and moored to the levee at Bismarck. The Northern Pacific Railroad Company have a claim of $7,000 on her.

FOLLOWING named gentlemen were selected yesterday by the Coal Exchange to represent Pittsburgh at the National Board of Steam Navigation which meets in New York on the 1st of September: Simpson Horner, N. Walton and Jos. A. Stone.

THE A. J. Baker, after being put in as good shape as was prior to her sinking, by the underwriters, will be transferred back to Capt. Poe when her repairs are completed. She is now on the dock at Mound City. As noted in the GAZETTE some days ago, her barges have been sold to the Northern Line Packet Co., and will be employed by that company on the Upper Mississippi. Capt. Poe contemplates engaging the Baker in towing from here to Wheeling and Parkersburg or wherever he can get a tow; in other words, he wants some one else to hunt the business, get the freight and then he will do the towing.

TUESDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says: The John L. Rhoads and Wild Duck, from St. Louis to Pittsburgh, passed up. The Wild Duck has nine hundred tons of iron ore on board. Wm. Gosley and Wm. Hall are her pilots. Jos. Alexander is one of the John L. Rhoads' pilots....There was a large and enthusiastic meeting held yesterday of the Local Board of Steam Navigation at their rooms on the Public Landing. The meeting was called for the purpose of electing officers to serve the ensuing year, and for the election of delegates to the National Board of Steam Navigation Convention, which meets in New York September 1. Robert S. Semple, the President of the Cincinnati Board, called the meeting to order, and in the absence of Captain James D. Parker, the regular Secretary, Captain Henry U. Hart was called upon to fill that position temporarily. President Semple then stated the object of the meeting. Captain James S. Funeral of Hon Samuel Henry.

The funeral of the late lamented Hon. Samuel Henry, of Cambria county, was on Sunday lest held from his late residence in Ebensburg. The cortage was one of the most imposing ever witnessed in that antiquated town, affording clear and solemn evidence of the high regard and esteem in which the deceased was held by all of his fellow citizens in that section of the Commonwealth. The procession to the grave was over two miles in length, and was preceded by the Cambria Military Guards and a large delegation of the Masons, of which order he was a prominent member, and under the solemn rites of which body he was finally consigned to the silent grave. No citizen of the western end of the State had more admirers in life than Mr. Henry, and few have passed away from earth to eternity more deeply mourned and missed.

Sad Indeed

Yesterday morning Deputy Mayor Hoerr, of the South Side, had a sad case before him. The defendant is the wife of an honest, hard-working citizen, who, it is said, even carried the lumber to the spot on which he built his dwelling. There, for a time, they lived peacefully and happily until the wife took to drinking and became a perfect slave to rum. Often had the poor husband carried the wife to bed and watched her until she recovered from her stupor. On night before last she was drunk again, and he placed her in bed. After she had fallen asleep he placed their baby beside her. Soon she awakened, and, seeing the child there, attempted to strangle it, but the husband rescued the little one in time. The wife then got up, staggered out of the house and the police found her in a board yard. She was committed to jail and her baby sent with her.

The Coal Exchange.

A meeting of the Coal Exchange was held in the rooms yesterday morning, for the purpose of appointing delegates to represent the Exchange and Steamboatmen's Association at the National Board of Steam Navigation, which meets at the Metropolitan Hotel, New York, on the first of September.

On motion, the following gentlemen were appointed as delegates to represent the above named association: Simpson Horner, N. J. Bigley, Jas. A. Blackmore, M. Bailey, Jas. M. Schoonmaker, Jas. Fawcett, R. C. Gray, J. T. Stockdale, W. J. Kountz, Wm. Cunningham, Addison Lysle, Capt. C. W. Beltzhoover, J. F. Dravo, Jos. Walton and Jos. A. Stone.

A motion was made and carried that the Secretary address Col. Merrill, requesting him to remove, as early as he conveniently can, the obstructions from the channel deposited in the Ohio by the late freshets.

The meeting then adjourned until Monday next.

Burglars About.

At an early hour yesterday morning there was an attempt at burglary in the Fourth ward, Allegheny. Some weeks ago Mr. Smith, who keeps a cigar store on the corner of Robinson and Hope streets, had his store entered and robbed of a quantity of cigars and tobacco. Since that time he has slept in his store, which was not his custom formerly. Yesterday morning he was awakened by a noise at the door leading to his store. He felt convinced that thieves were after him again, and listening for a time he became very sure that an effort was being made to pry the door open Then it was that he picked up his revolver, and in the excitement of the moment fired through a panel of the door. He heard one fellow scream and the other run away. Mr. Smith then opened the door and noticed one individual lying on the street. Thinking he had shot him, he started toward where he was lying, but the fellow got up and ran away too. The opinion is that the fellow was wounded, but who he is has not been discovered. The police have been trying to work up the case, but thus far without avail.

A Safe Depository and a Public Convenience

We bespeak the attention of our readers, especially those of Allegheny City, and more especially in the Third, Fourth and upper wards of that city to a favorite institution, to wit: the Workingmen's Savings Bank, located in their very midst, an institution whose stock is held by the wealthy men of Allegheny, men whose fortunes are the work of their own hands, self-made men, men who are habitually and instinctively prudent and careful, and therefore, men who deservedly enjoy the confidence of the community. First of these, Mr. Joseph Herman, an experienced financier, has been wisely chosen for President of the bank, which is equally fortunate in the choice of a Board of Directors. Thus constituted and thus organized the Bank may be pronounced safe, especially as every stockholder is legally held for all deposits. Interest is paid on time deposits, so that both security and profit are assured to the working classes and all other depositors. Another claim presented by this Bank to public favor consists in the extensive correspondence maintained by it with institutions in other cities and States, whereby drafts and checks can be collected or transmitted, so that every facility is afforded to merchants, traders, drovers and others. The facts being as we have stated them, prudent and shrewd men of all classes will appreciate the strong inducements for opening accounts with, and transacting their business through, the Workingmen's Savings Bank, located at No. 230 Ohio street, Allegheny.

SUDDEN DEMISE.

Death from Heart Disease.

Yesterday afternoon George J. Thomas, in company with two other young men, was on the Allegheny river rowing. They went up the river as far as Twenty-eighth street, when Thomas was taken suddenly ill. His companions at once rowed to the shore and a physician was summoned, but Thomas died before the physician arrived. Last evening the Coroner held an inquest, and the verdict of the jury was death from heart disease, brought on from over-exertion. The deceased was twenty years old, lived with his grandfather at 569 Penn avenue, and was bookkeeper for B. J. Faulkheimer, a Market street merchant.

STOLEN CATTLE.

How a Sharper Tried to Make Use of a Pittsburgh Firm.

One of Pittsburgh's prominent stock dealing firms was somewhat victimized yesterday, but the game fortunately was discovered in time. They received from a new shipper a lot of cattle, and, according to orders, disposed of the stock for cash, at once, getting a pretty fair price. Before the whole transaction, however was completed, some shippers from the West put in an appearance, and claimed that the cattle had been stolen from them. The matter was investigated, and they were able to substantiate their claim, and the property was passed over to them. It was fortunate that the game was thus developed in time, before the money realized on the sale had been sent away. The firm is now looking for the swindling consignor, with the intention of making it warm for him.

A STREET CHAT.

Emigration—Financial Affairs—What a Citizen Thinks.

In talking with a European Steamship Agent yesterday, a GAZETTE representative gained the following facts:

"How is European travel this year, compared with last?"

"Nothing," was the prompt reply. "I don't know what this country is coming to."

"Have you not sold as many cabin passages this year as last?"

"No, not one-half. Every year the business is getting less."

"Well, what kind of tickets are you selling?"

"Steerage tickets to the old country, principally. Some buy to California, but in a few months, sometimes weeks, the same parties call on me for tickets to Europe, having returned from the West as much disgusted there as they were with business in Pittsburgh when they left it."

"Still," we said "the tide of emigration continues, and thousands of foreigners are landed every week at Castle Garden, New York."

"Yes," said the agent, "but they are a better class of emigrants than formerly. They are people with money; people who, perhaps, are much better able to pay for cabin state rooms than many of those who occupy them, if solid cash is to be taken as a criterion. They come in the steerage to save money."

"How about prepaid tickets from the old country to this?"

"That business has almost discontinued too. It used to be a bad week when we did not sell fifteen or twenty tickets here to be sent to England, Ireland, Scotland or Germany to bring friends to this country, but now a prepaid ticket from a European port is scarcely ever heard of in our office."

"And how do you account for this?" we next enquired.

"The bad times here is the best reason I can give you. Things are not as they used to be. Money is scarce with the people. The poorer classes are quite willing to work, but there is a want of confidence among the capitalists which breeds distrust all around."

"Is this to be wondered at, taking into consideration some of the recent failures?" enquired the writer.

"Not much! I tell you that the morning I read of Duncan, Sherman & Co. having failed it almost knocked all the faith I had in my fellow men out of me. That failure has done much to weaken general confidence, and will aid no little in drawing money matters closer together than ever—and then look at the heavy failures, suspensions and assignments that are recorded in the papers from time to time; are they not having their bad effect too?"

"To a greater or less extent they are, but still this is a great country, and there is plenty of room for development and improvement."

"Yes but there is not room enough for so many drones, so many banks, so many gamblers—people who do no work themselves, but live off their wits, their cupidity and other peoples labor" was the agents answer, and he looked cross."

"Why do you say there are too many banks?"

"Should you ask? Is it not evident, is it not a common saying that 'all the money is locked up in the banks.' For my own part at the bank where I do business, I have seen the same bundles of money carried out of the safe every morning for months, and of course they are carried in at night, the tapes about them being sealed to save the trouble of a daily count. This money should be in circulation and not taking up room in bank vaults."

The writer did not rebut, although having his own idea of a reason why for this. But our friend continued. "We all remember in past times, and not so long ago, either, when four or five banks did the financial business of our city. Then times were good and a man did not, as now, run with his book to the bank every time he took in fifty dollars and deposit it. To be sure, our city has increased and, perhaps, a bank or two more were needed, but I cannot see the necessity of one on every corner as they are now. Many a small dealer has had a financial crisis bridged over because his neighbor could lend him a hundred for a few hours or a couple of days, but now you can't get a dollar unless you deposit gilt edged security."

"Perhaps had this style of business been in vogue at the time you refer to, people would not have been so reckless and had no 'financial crises' to bridge over."

We were about to continue the conversation, but the gentleman, let us hope, not stultifying himself, said: "But see its ten minutes of three and I must go to the bank. Good day," and he traveled toward one of our financial institutions with a well filled bank book in his hand.

CRIME IN THE CITY.

Brief Mention of Petty Criminalities.

DEPUTY MAYOR SCHAFFER, of the South Side, committed John McCread to jail for five days, yesterday, for creating trouble in Ray's row.

ALDERMAN CORCORAN issued a warrant yesterday for the arrest of Louis Eiguer, charged with keeping a ferocious dog which bit her child on the arm.

DEPUTY MAYOR HOERR issued a warrant yesterday, for the arrest of Mary McNally, who is charged with assault and battery by Catharine Reilly.

THOMAS MULLIN and Patrick Smith fought and quarreled over a game of cards, and now Mullin charges Smith with assault and battery before Alderman Mitchell.

ALDERMAN MARTIN, of the Thirtieth ward yesterday committed Owen Sullivan to jail for ten days, on a charge of disorderly conduct on oath of Martin Shields.

JOSEPH MCCUNE and Robert Calvert came to the Mayor yesterday, and saying that they could get no employment, asked to be sent to the Work House as vagrants for thirty days each.

YESTERDAY MORNING Wm. Crawford who was arrested for stealing some carpenter's tools had a hearing before the Mayor and was sent to the Work House for thirty days, as a suspicious person.

YESTERDAY morning Chief of Police Ross, of Allegheny, saved the life of Wm. Milligan, by pulling him from a railroad track, where he was lying. Mayor Philips charged Wm. one dollar and costs.

JOHN FRUE and James McQue were charged yesterday before Alderman Thomas, on oath of Robert Campbell, with the larceny of one city license, one halter and a pair of blinds. In each case $300 bail was entered for a hearing next Friday evening.

YESTERDAY Levi Berwald called on Alderman Butler and made an information against J. Kasey, Fitch Gibson and John Doras, charging them with disorderly conduct. Berwald alleges that on last Sunday the defendants came on his premises and called him ugly names, and acted in a very disorderly manner Warrant issued.

EMIL SWARTZWELDER, against whom a charge of passing bogus nickels is pending, is in more trouble. Yesterday morning Alderman D. L. Smith, of Allegheny, lodged two commitments against him at the jail; one is to answer a charge of barratry preferred by C. P. Harnack, from whom the defendant accepted some money to settle a liquor case in which Harnack was the defendant. The other is for perjury in swearing falsely in the same case in order to insure a conviction. George Caldwell is the prosecuting witness in each case.

YESTERDAY morning the Mayor had before him three boys, to wit: Alex. Killin, Levi Weise and Wm. Clark, charged with attacking Mrs. Annie Moreland, who was returning from market, and stealing her pocket book. This is not their first offense, as one of them was recently released from the House of Refuge, and another one has already serve a term of sixty days in the Workhouse. Killin, the eldest, is said to be a very bad character for one so young. The Mayor sent them to the Workhouse for sixty days each as suspicious characters.

THE NORMAL CLASS.

The Closing Session of the Preparatory Course.

Last evening the tenth and closing session of the preparatory course of the Sunday School Teachers Normal Class was held in the Smithfield street Church, Mr Thomas Bakewell, conductor. The topic under consideration was "Bible Manners and Customs," special attention being given to Agriculture, Commerce and Manufactures. The lesson was quite interesting and instructive.

After the topic was disposed of, it was stated that there was a proposition under consideration looking to the formation of four Normal Class divisions in the two cities, under the general supervision of the Allegheny County Sabbath School Teachers Association. It was thought that it would be well before taking up the junior course, to ascertain what action would be taken on this proposition. Messrs. S. Omohundro and S. W. Hay were then appointed as a committee to confer with the County Association in reference to the matter.

The class then adjourned, subject to the call of the Board of Managers. The next meeting will be called when the committee is ready to report, and at that meeting the officers for the next class to take up the junior course, will be chosen.

The meetings of the class have been quite profitable, and their is a general desire to continue it during the fall and winter. A flourishing class will likely be the result.

NEGLIGENT OFFICIALS.

Interesting to Borough and Township Auditors.

During the session of 1874 the Legislature passed an act requiring the Auditors of the various townships and boroughs of the State to publish an annual statement of the Road Commissioners, Overseers of the Poor and School Directors, and to designate a day on which to audit the borough and township accounts. These statements must be posted up in five conspicious places in the townships or boroughs, and a copy of the same must be left with the clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court of the county. In case of a failure to comply, any taxpayer of the township or borough may institute proceedings against the auditors in the name of the school directors, and the penalty is twenty dollars and costs each. William White, as a taxpayer of Kilbuck township, has made complaint in the name of the School Directors of that township, against the then auditors of the township, and Alderman Black, of this city, before whom the three delinquent officials were brought, imposed the fine designated by law, twenty dollars and costs each. The auditors, it is thought, will take an appeal.

Five Brothers'

Louisville Tobacco costs a few cents more than other leading brands, but what is that compared to such goods? Chewers cheerfully pay it.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

MT SEWICKLEY, August 24, 1875.

Since Mr. Sankey's arrival yesterday there seems to be a greater religious feeling than before, but whether this feeling was produced by the powerful singing of Mr. Sankey, or otherwise, I am unable to say. At all events an excellent feeling exists, and before the meeting closes it is expected that many souls will be converted. The preaching also seems to be increasing in power, and the experience meetings are excellent and producing much good. The one held this morning at 8 o'clock was very good, the entire time until half-past ten o'clock being occupied by those anxious to speak. Particularly interesting were the experiences of Father Jackson, D. N. White, Geo. C. Reis, of New Castle, and Rev. Mr. Weekly, all old soldiers of the Cross.

At half-past ten, Rev. C. W. Smith, of the First Church, Canton, Ohio, occupied the pulpit, and preached from the text 1st John, third chapter and second verse. The sermon was well delivered—was clear in thought, cultured in diction, and full of evangelical spirit. It very visibly affected the people. It was one of the most powerful sermons we have had.

Children's Church was conducted by Rev. J. R. Mills, who, as usual, highly interested the children with a plain, neat address, and prayer and singing.

Rev. J. W. Miles preached a very fine sermon at three o'clock, from Mark 11:22. Considering that this is this gentleman's first year of ministerial life, his sermon was excellent.

After preaching, Bishop Moore, of North Carolina, a leading spirit in the African M. E. Church, was asked to make a few remarks, which he did in a way that not only affected but amused many. In describing Jerusalem, he said it was built high on a hill of gold, was well watered by the "River of Life," well planted with fruit trees, and he was sure that he would stand under the trees and shake the fruit down. It was well guarded by angels, and it would be impossible for the Devil to pass the guard. In speaking of the "River of Jordan," he said that when he and all the other Christians imprinted their last footsteps on the white, sandy banks of that river, they would easily cross, when old Gabriel, with his sledge-hammer of eternity, would break in the ribs of old Death. The Bishop's remarks, although very amusing at times, were well received by all, and were effective.

At the evening service Rev. S. F. Minor preached a fine sermon. The discourse produced a profound impression, and those who responded to the earnest appeal to seek Christ, received the prayers and songs of the congregation.

Ministerial arrivals up to noon are R. B. Mansell, Abner Jackson, R. L. Miller, Wm. Hunter, of the Christian Advocate, W. Darby, James Allison, of the Presbyterian Banner, R. S. Ross, M. Prichard, of Nebraska Conference, T. J. Knapp, of the Baptist church, Sewickley.

The meeting to-night was a great success, the only interference being from some old gentleman who persisted in walking up and down the aisles, shouting and praying to himself while sinners were being called forward. It greatly annoys those in the back part of the audience, without making the least impression, but creating merriment by his peculiar actions.

The managers held a meeting to-day, and it was decided to close the meetings on Thursday evening next.

A resolution was passed to remove the boarding house and extend the avenue out, and to present to each congregation a lot upon which to build a cottage for the pastor.

Rev. Bishop Moore, Revs. Wm. Fleming, and J. McFiddler, of the A. M. E. Z. C., were present on the grounds to-day and participated in the exercises. BERT.

Common Pleas Court No 1.

(Before Judge Collier.)

There was a bief session of this Court yesterday morning.

Wm. Reardon, Esq., presented to the Court the cases of the Commonwealth vs. Edward Hughes and Ignatius Quinn, committed to jail on Saturday by Alderman King. The cases came up on certiorari. It will be remembered that Hughes and Quinn were arrested, and had a hearing on Saturday, when, in default of $21.45 costs, they were jailed. Their attorney, Mr. Reardon, applied on Monday for the writ of certiorari and the records were produced in open court. 'Squire King was also present. It then appeared that the nature of the record of testimony, etc., was such as to make it impossible to hold the pair. The writ was returnable forthwith and the defendants discharged.

OUR CITY SCHOOLS.

A Special Meeting of the Central Board of Education—New Districts Formed—Night Schools to be Opened.

Yesterday afternoon the Central Board of Education held an adjourned meeting, no quorum being on hand at the regular meeting on the 10th instant. In the absence of President Nobbs, Mr. Thomas J. Craig was called to preside. After the reading of the minutes the new district formed out of a part of the Twenty-first ward was admitted under the name of the Homewood sub-district, and Hon. Jared M. Brush was admitted to a seat as the representative from that district, in the Central Board. He made application for a Principal and three teachers for the new district, which was referred to the Committee on Teachers and Salaries, which immediately held a meeting and granted the number asked for, so that they can be elected before the term in September commences.

James Logan was elected principal of the mute school at a salary of $1,000 per annum. The assistant is to be chosen at some future date, at $500 per annum. An application was made for the division of the 22d ward into two districts, which was referred to a special committee consisting of Dr. McKelvey, as chairman, and Messrs Lewis and Gutman to examine and report. The report of the High School committee recommended a number of bills for approval, among which was one for $1,500 for painting the High Schools. The bills were all approved. It was decided that the night schools shall open on the 20th of September and continue for 65 nights of active teaching, and to be governed by the same rules as last year. After discussing some minor topics the board adjourned.

AQUATIC.

The Coulter-Morris Race—Surveying the Course—The Route Agreed Upon.

Yesterday afternoon, Coulter and Morris, with a few of their friends, went up the Allegheny river to look over the course and fix upon a starting point for the forthcoming race, on September 11th. After a survey of the river, they decided to fix the starting point at Hulton Station, on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, and to have the course extend 2½ miles down the river, and back—making the five miles. All the parties seemed satisfied with the course, and the two principals expressed themselves as thoroughly pleased with it. The river on the route selected is generally wide, and comparatively smooth, so that there is every opportunity for each oarsman to have a full sweep, and to make a fine race. Both men are now in active training, and will come up to the line in superb condition. A close and exciting contest is anticipated.

A Flood in Green County.

A correspondent writes of a serious flood which occurred on Tempieton's creek on last Friday morning, caused by the bursting of a dam some distance above Jacksonville. No sooner was the water set free than it came rushing down with terrible force, breaking the other dams between it and the town. The latter was submerged, there being fully six feet on some of the streets. Two houses were carried away, and many narrow escape are noted. Two boys, who were on the creek road, were drowned in the rushing waters. The Jacksonville meeting house was carried away, and the grave-yard torn up, and bodies washed from their resting places and left lying in masses along the banks of the stream. This was the most destructive flood that ever visited Green county. Men were engaged on Monday in clearing away the debris and reburying the remains. The loss is estimated at several thousands of dollars.

Bill in Equity.

Yesterday a bill in equity was filed by M. A. Woodward Esq., in the Common Pleas for the recovery of certain funds in possession of the administrators of the estate of Colonel Wm. Phillips, deceased. The bill sets forth that on October 3d, 1866, Michael O'Hara; acting for Mrs. Maria McFarland and Frances A. O'Hara, assigned to Colonel Phillips' in trust 7,372 shares in the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad Company, for the benefit of Mr. O'Hara and his wife and children, and in the event of the death of Mrs. O'H. then in trust and for the benefit of Mr. O'Hara and his heirs, &c. The said agreement was in the writing of Colonel Phillips and Mr. O'Hara, and was accepted, it is said, by Mr. Phillips as binding to carry out said trust. Subsequently, it is alleged, Colonel Phillips sold or converted a large portion of this stock into $24,404, of bonds of the Steubenville and Indiana Railroad Company, worth a large amount of money. Moreover, that in April, 1874, Col. Phillips, J. Patton Lyon and W. A. Tomlinson, were appointed, and discharged the duties of administrators of the Colonel's estate. Further, that neither the deceased nor his administrators have in any way accounted to the plaintiffs for the funds described above, and that it is the right of the plaintiffs to have the accounts of the above trust brought into court for settlement, and to have a trustee appointed in place of the deceased. So plaintiffs ask for an order of Court upon the administrators, to return all moneys, dividends, etc., due plaintiffs, and to appoint a new trustee.

THAT EXPLOSION.

What the Boiler Inspector Has to Say About It.

The Boiler Inspector has been making an investigation into the condition of the boiler which bursted at Painter's Mills, Monday morning, and he makes the following report:

OFFICE OF ALL'Y CO. BOILER INSPECTOR,
No. 171 Second avenue,
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 24, 1875.

To His Excellency, Jno. F. Hartranft, Gov. State of Pennsylvania:

HONORED SIR—Having made an investigation as to the cause of the explosion which occurred at the rolling mill of J. Painter & Sons, situated in that portion of this city known as the South Side, on the morning of the 23d of August, by which the assistant engineer and one fireman lost their lives, I would respectfully submit the following:

After making a thorough examination of the exploded boiler and also of the six remaining boilers which constituted the battery, I find sufficient evidence to convince me that the boilers had been overheated by not having a sufficient quantity of water in them. Said boilers were inspected by myself and assistant on November 27, 1875, and were found in good and safe condition for amount of steam required. Boilers have been in use about sixteen years. A piece of iron taken from the ruptured plate shows a tensile strength to the sectional inch of 58,057 pounds. Cross section of same plate shows a tensile strength of 63,542 pounds to the sectional inch.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. E. RUSSELL, Inspector.

Base Ball.

The clerks in the City Hall, Pittsburgh, and City Hall, Allegheny, will spit on their lily white hands and grab the bat to try conclusions next week.

The Iron City club will try to warm the East Ends at Union Park next Friday. The East Enders say the leather will be on the other limb when the game is over.

The Hazlewood and Iron City clubs will meet in the arena at Hazlewood this afternoon.

The Harry Warren club is spoiling for a tussle with the Dan Downers, and throws down the gage of battle for next Thursday afternoon. There has been as yet no reply.

A Verdict in Accordance with Proofs.

The verdict of the public in favor of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters differs from some that might be mentioned, in being in strict accordance with the proofs repeatedly adduced in support of the claims of America's most popular remedy. It may well be doubted if there was ever a medicine in substantiation of whose merits such a mass of unsolicited testimony has accumulated. An examination of this testimony establishes a fact of the last importance to the sick and debilitated, as well as those who are exposed to unfavorable influences of climate—namely, that the Bitters are an unequaled tonic, an active and thorough specific for every disorder of the digestive, biliary and excretory organs, a reliable means of regulating the discharge of the most important functions of the body, and a supreme protective against intermittent and remittent fevers, and all other diseases to which malaria gives birth.

THE HAPPY MAN.

A PARAPHRASE.

Two sapphires are thy two blue eyes
So lovely and so sweet;
Thrice happy is the happy man
Whom lovingly they greet.

Thy heart it is a diamond
That noble lightning throws;
Thrice happy is the happy man
For whom it throbs and glows.

And rubies are thy crimson lips,
None lovelier might one reach;
Thrice happy is the happy man
Who gets of them love-speech.

If I but knew the happy man,
And met that favored one
Alone, alone in the green woods,
His happiness were done!
